„The perfect wave“

“[...] As a sextet the Aurora models deliver incredibly joyful and very homogeneous sound. The subwoofer sends out punching bass waves into the room, which, thanks to the meticulous measurement of the AV receiver, perfectly blend in the multi-channel system – without being cheeky. No doubt other subwoofers might play more brutally, but in our test the Heco one scored with its precise and always controlled attitude [...]“

Conclusion:

“The excellently designed Aurora speakers by Heco convinced us with their attractive price and extraordinary sound properties. It is with vivacity, strength and refinement that the 5.1 system played one piece after the other from our test repertoire. If you are looking for both modern and timeless loudspeakers for your home cinema, you should not miss looking at and listening to the Heco Aurora series – our design recommendation.“
